DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claim(s) 1-6, and 8-38, is/are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter as follows. Claim 1 defines a software system embodying functional descriptive material. However, the claim does not define a computer-readable medium or memory and is thus non-statutory for that reason (i.e., "When functional descriptive material is recorded on some computer-readable medium it becomes structurally and functionally interrelated to the medium and will be statutory in most cases since use of technology permits the function of the descriptive material to be realized" – Guidelines Annex IV). That is, the scope of the presently claimed software system can range from paper on which the program is written, to a program simply contemplated and memorized by a person. The examiner suggests amending the claim to embody the program on "computer-readable medium" or equivalent in order to make the claim statutory. Any amendment to the claim should be commensurate with its corresponding disclosure.

Allowable Subject Matter

3. Claims 1-6, and 8-38 are allowable under the condition that Applicant overcomes the 35 U.S.C. 101 rejection. Once Applicant overcomes the 35 U.S.C. 101 rejection, claims 1-6, and 8-38 will be allowable.
4. Claims 39-54 are allowable.
5. The Examiner phone Applicant on 5/22/09 to discuss an Examiner's Amendment regarding claims 1-6 and 8-38 to overcome the 35 U.S.C. 101 rejection, but was not able to reach Applicant.

6. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

As for claims 1 and 39, the prior art of record to Wason (6701383) teaches an abstraction layer that provides an interface between a framework and one or more plug-ins. The prior art of record to Danielson (7171448) teaches coordinating activities between users in a collaborative work tool architecture. The prior art of record to Bittinger (5754774) teaches combining low speed communications technology with web technology. The prior art of record fails to reasonably show or suggest a web browser and not a media player, configured to provide timing representations to third party media players; a player-hosting peer within the web browser for negotiating a playback state and a rendering status between the web browser and each of the plurality of third party media players by exchanging, without user input, command and state change information between the web browser and each of the plurality of third party media players; and wherein the player-hosting peer transitions through states including inactive, active, waiting for data, and out of sync.
